ANTOINE'S 4 SEASONS

MUSIC

Ten year-old Anthony has red hair, as did Antonio Vivaldi. For his birthday, his grandfather gives him a book. He would have preferred a video game, but what can you expect from a grandfather who spends his time building violins in his workshop? But this is a magic book! When you draw in it, it plays the Four Seasons: it's an activity book, a herbarium, a sketchbook... The orchestra playing the music is inside the book, on the other side of each page... drawings come to life and join the orchestra in an imaginary space. The book accompanies Anthony throughout the seasons until his eleventh birthday.

THE CARNIVAL OF THE ANIMALS

MUSIC

Every night, a father tells his son a bedtime story to help him fall asleep. The child always chooses the same book, a serious book with score sheets, photos of the Orchestra and drawings of animals - the book is "The Carnival of the Animals" by Camille Saint-Saens.

This book which seems a little austere, is transformed by the complicity of the father and his son, it becomes animated, it plays music : The Carnival of the Animals comes to life. A musical tale in live caption and animation.

THE FOOTPRINT

ANIMATION . ECOLOGY . SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

The Footprint is an animated film featuring Earth, Little Rosie (from the Little Earth Charter) and special guest Org, a cave-kid from prehistoric times. Org accidentally time-travels to the present day where he notices that there's plenty of everything! With a little help from the narrator, Rosie and Earth teach Org about his eco-footprint.

The story is a playful introduction to sustainability issues such as water, food, clothes, transportation, toys, and energy, with a little musical segment on each. The take-away is to avoid wastefulness, with a few tips and tricks along the way. An educational project for children ages 4 - 8.

TANGO'S REVENGE

MUSIC . DANSE. SOUTH AMERICA

They call it new tango and for this group of young, gifted musicians, new is an understatement. The sounds rippling out of Argentina today have nothing to do with your father's tango or even the strains you might hear at the tango dance school down the street. The nascent, percussive music being played in little clubs and on street corners is more world beat than tango. Full of anger and tragedy, jazz rhythms and rock beats, new tango music pulsates like Buenos Aires itself.

Tango's Revenge tells the story of this musical revolution and how a group of gifted, young artists have taken as their mission to redefine the sound and culture of one of the great musical genres of the world – tango.

FACE TO FACE

BIOGRAPHY

Face to Face is a series of comparative portraits featuring two well-known figures, seen through the prism of their rivalry. Adversaries, opponents, the best or worst of enemies... they have all been groundbreaking leaders in their fields : politics, science, technology, economy or the arts.

For each of them, their rivalry became a driving-force and a constant challenge. The scale and scope of their contention went far beyond mere personal antagonism, and the results of their confrontation have often changed society and deeply impacted our lives.

For many people, the English writer JRR Tolkien (1892-1973) is above all the author of the Lord of the Rings, the film series directed and produced by Peter Jackson from 2001 to 2003. Translated in over sixty languages, Tolkien's books have deeply marked the imagination of millions of readers throughout the world. However, in a period of triumphant Hollywood blockbusters, part of the mystery may be fading away, something that is attached to a unique type of literary creativity.

This documentary goes back to the origins of this tremendous creation and, at the same time, it is an opportunity to rediscover the surprising personality of its author. Who was this quiet and scholarly man who taught languages and old English literature at Oxford?

NUCLEAR LANDS

INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE . POLLUTION . SCIENCE & TECHNOLOGY

Nuclear Lands examines three areas in the world whose landscapes are dominated by nuclear sites: the US, France and Japan. The film traces the story from the birth of plutonium production in the 40s in Hanford, USA to the nuclear reprocessing plant in La Hague, France and tells of the Rokkasho nuclear site in Japan which is actually built on a seismic fault line.

Based on archives, Nuclear Lands recreates the story of an industrial environment secretly born in arid and desolate locations. The sites, depicted through creative imagery, show us that humankind made an irreversible choice in the mid-twentieth century.

From its evolution as matter used for military purposes to one which is used for nuclear energy, the film explores the scientific, industrial and geopolitical implications of its production.

THE SANDMAN

ECOLOGY . POLLUTION . INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE .
CANADA . PHYSICAL GEOGRAPHY

In northern Canada, Indian land is now the home to the largest industrial project in the world: the exploitation of the Alberta tar sands, potentially, the third largest source of new oil for the world.

Multinationals are now producing nearly two million barrels a day and an expected five million by 2030 but the ecological cost of extraction is so prohibitive that opponents are on the rise.

The production of a barrel of crude from the tar sands is ten times more energy intensive than a conventional barrel. The pollution from this extraction threatens major climate agreements around the planet. Those living near the region fear potential health problems and are concerned about the effects the oil sands development will have on their culture and life style.

CANADA . PHYSICAL GEOGRAPHY

For some years now, climate sceptics have been questioning the reality of global warming. These movements are financed by large industrial groups who significantly contribute to greenhouse gas emissions and who have set up scientific research teams, think-tanks and lobbying groups to defend their theories.

How do they spread their fallacious theories from one coast of the Atlantic to the other? Who supports them and why? In the United States, London, Paris or Brussels, a battle for influence pits these merchants of doubt with international organizations. How did a few researchers manage to sow the seeds of incertitude? This is the climate war we will be telling you about.

THE E-WASTE TRAGEDY

ECOLOGY, POLLUTION

Why does three-quarters of European electronic waste escape recycling and end up illegally in landfill?

In the suburbs of Accra, the capital of Ghana, children play at dismantling scrapped electronic equipment, surrounded by foul smelling and toxic fumes, in a sadly-famous, uncontrolled rubbish dump. Ghanaian journalist Mike Anane, who is an expert on the environment looks at why his country has become the trash can of the developed countries.

This lucid investigation by Cosima Dannoritzer (The Light Bulb Conspiracy) into several European countries, Asia and the U.S., reveals the apparatus of large-scale trafficking, as well as a complex chain of responsibility and collusion.

THE ICE-MAD ON THE SAINT LAWRENCE

PHYSICAL GEOGRAPHY . TRANSPORT . CANADA . QUEBEC

The St. Lawrence River is one of the most dangerous maritime routes to navigate on the planet. During the winter months, the Canadian Coast Guard icebreaker plows endlessly up and down between the Atlantic and Montreal to clear a passage for cargo ships. For three months we followed the daily lives of the crews of the Amundsen, one of Canada's biggest icebreakers. The task of its crew is to free cargo ships trapped in the ice.

The St Lawrence is not just a vital artery for the economy of Quebec, it also provides a formidable, open freedom for those who live along its banks.

ALLERGY THE TOXIC BURDEN

DISEASES, DISORDERS AND DISABILITIES . MEDICINE

Can the phenomenon of today's allergy explosion be rationally explained? This documentary endeavours to understand the phenomenon, by highlighting the true environmental causes and the protection strategies we have at our disposal.

The film examines the classical theory that attributes allergies to a natural flaw in our immune system, which erroneously targets inoffensive elements necessary for life, such as pollen, and sheds light on the industry's role in the spread of this modern scourge. Highlighting the lack of testing on the effects of pesticides and antibiotics before putting them on the market and challenging the notion of "background doses"... Patrizia Marani blows the lid off the dubious practices of the pharmaceutical laboratories and agri-food corporations, showing how, day by day, their chemicals are weakening our immune systems.

WORLDWIDE ALLERGIES

DISEASES, DISORDERS AND DISABILITIES . MEDICINE

In less than 20 years, allergies have become a planet-wide plague. Whereas we thought our immune systems protected us, we now know they can turn against us. Whereas we thought we had identified the health hazards, we are now discovering that even the most inoffensive products can be dangerous. Cosmetics, detergents, foodstuffs, drugs, plants, the air we breathe, or a simple kiss can, at some point, trigger an allergy in any person, at any age, in any country. But do we really know what allergies are? Are we aware of all substances that can trigger this immune response? Can we explain why some people become allergic while others do not? Can we eliminate the plague?

400 million people worldwide suffer from allergic rhinitis and another 300 million have asthma. Allergic diseases rank 4th on the list of diseases according to the WHO and could become 3rd in the next few decades.

What are the factors responsible for the scourge of global allergies?

The placebo effect has long enjoyed a notorious reputation. To attribute a cure to the placebo effect, was to consider, with a touch of contempt, that the illness was the product of the mental state of a hypochondriac. If he invented his illness, he could invent his cure. Now, in contradiction to these theories, scientific studies carried out over recent decades show that the placebo effect can result in physiological changes that are both observable and quantifiable.

The film structures itself around a central question: how to reconcile the cultural singularity that is reading, developed recently by our single species, with the slow pace of genetic evolution, and therefore with the fixity of brain biology?

Stanislas Dehaene proposed an astonishing scientific hypothesis: neuronal recycling. In other words, our cultural inventions, such as reading, result in the diversion of pre-existing brain function.

THE ARMENIAN GENOCIDE

2015 – THE 100th ANNIVERSARY OF THE ARMENIAN GENOCIDE

MODERN HISTORY . HUMAN RIGHTS. EUROPE

More than one million Armenians perished between 1915 and 1916 in massacres or brutal deportation programs. It was one of the 20th century's worst genocides, and one of its most controversial. It has been the subject of bitter legal battles, with Turkey still denying it ever happened. In an attempt to understand the origins, nature and stakes of the Armenian Genocide, Laurence Jourdan went back in time to look at massacres of Armenians in the decades leading up to the mass murder, and analyze the geopolitical situation both before and after the genocide. The film is peppered with reports and documents written by Western diplomats stationed in the Ottoman Empire when the events unfolded, giving us a remarkable look at the methods used and the deportation routes. These accounts are mixed with personal stories from genocide survivors who are still living, as well as archive footage from Ottoman authorities.

HOLODOMOR : THE FORGOTTEN GENOCIDE

MODERN HISTORY . HUMAN RIGHTS . COMMUNITIES . EUROPE

Holodomor, the Ukrainian word for death by hunger, was a famine orchestrated by Stalin in the spring of 1933 to teach the Ukrainian farmers a lesson for resisting collectivization. They refused to give up their farms to the state when Ukraine was under Soviet domination and they paid a heavy price for their resistance. Millions of people perished in this farming area, known as the breadbasket of Europe, deprived of the food they had grown with their own hands.

Through interviews and survivors' narrations, the film testifies to the means used by the USSR to eradicate Ukrainian nationalism. It shows how Stalin succeeded in removing any physical and human trace of this genocide to the world.

As world's largest natural gas exporter, was Russian involvement in the Ukraine war patriotic... or economic? In order to find out, this geopolitically-themed documentary attempts to better understand an issue that concerns both the future of Europe and NATO, in the face of an arrogant Putin-ruled Kremlin.

The size of Ukraine's natural gas reserves casts quite a different light on recent events between Ukraine and Russia. Putin appears to be assuming the role of CEO of Kremlin Inc., a state-capitalist network of state and offshore companies and political directorships. Russia isn't preparing for war, but is willing to resort to any of its unconventional weaponry to preserve its monopoly over a vital economic market that of Europe.

Does cultured meat - which numerous scientists in various countries are working on - open up real perspectives for feeding a rising population and for fighting pollution (18% of greenhouse gases allegedly come from livestock rearing)? Or does it represent a false hope? Will the environmental arguments put forward in its favour be enough to convince consumers to eat cultured meat? Is the current commercial success of the first meat-substitute products available on the market heralding a change in what we eat? Would it not be preferable to turn towards insects, given that they are an already established source of protein and, what's more, are natural? This documentary, shot in the US, China, India, France, Holland and Laos, will change the way you see steak - forever!

ONE WAY ASTRONAUT

ASTRONOMY AND SPACE SCIENCE

Want to spend the rest of your life on Mars? The Mars One initiative plans to establish a permanent settlement on Mars in 2023 and is looking for future astronauts. No experience necessary.

Bas Lansdorp, co-founder and CEO of the Netherland based group says, «It will be the biggest media spectacle the world has ever seen.» But there is a catch, this trip is one way only. The total budget is 6 billion dollars and Mars One has to fund the project by producing a reality TV show. The initiative is one of love and hate, admiration and controversy.

The documentary portrays aspiring astronauts from Germany, America, Brazil and Belgium. They talk about what motivates them, and about leaving their parents, children and loved ones behind in a mission they cannot refuse.

ONE EARTH, 1001 WORLDS

COMMUNITIES . MULTICULTURALISM . CANADA . QUEBEC

In One Earth, 1001 Worlds, Roy Dupuis pursues his social engagement by drawing our attention to the importance of cultural diversity. Co-hosting with Kalpana Das, he introduces us to the Intercultural Institute of Montreal, whose visionary legacy spanned over almost half a century in the name for a better understanding of pluralism.

Following its closure in 2012, local and international collaborators were invited to share their personal experiences and to shed light on their outstanding accomplishments. The highly innovative reflections and approaches that emerged from this group of thinkers since the 60s is more than relevant today. In sync with its time, the Intercultural Institute of Montreal (IIM) organized a variety of activities in order to favor the intercultural dialogue between government and cultural groups through seminars, conferences, training workshops and cultural performances.

Both on local and global scales, modern societies navigate inexorably towards pluralism. Today, more than ever, it is mandatory to embrace the richness of cultural differences.

TROUBLED WATERS

ABORIGINAL PEOPLES . COMMUNITIES . ANIMAL CULTURE . INDUSTRY & COMMERCE . CANADA

In Central Canada, ice fishing isn't just a sport, but an industry that thrives in the Aboriginal communities that rely on it to survive. These Aboriginal fishers aren't just fighting Mother Nature's extreme conditions, but they struggle to sustain their livelihood as government bureaucracy threatens to force them to look elsewhere for income.

Any hope to keep a semblance of this past tradition alive becomes bleaker with each passing season. Few Aboriginal fishers remain with younger generations looking elsewhere for work, however a small number are taking matters into their own hands and fighting to change the game.

PINK ATTITUDE: PRINCESSES, POP STARS AND GIRL POWER

BEST SELLER

LIFESTYLES . SOCIAL ISSUES . WOMEN

Cheerful, bubbly and colorful, the Girlie-Girl Culture is an unavoidable phenomenon of our western society. This ambiguous and popular culture-both angelic and demonic constantly oscillates between two extreme images of women: the little girl and the temptress, the ingénue and the predator.

How has the Girlie-Girl Culture managed to conquer the world, to shape and impose guidelines to a new feminine identity? Which cultural codes lurk behind the glitter and pink veneer of the Pink Attitude-codes that guide the majority of today's girls from cradle to adulthood?

SYRIA, CHILDREN AT WAR

SOCIAL ISSUES . MIDDLE EAST . CONFLICTS AND RESOLUTIONS

Now in its 4 year, over 200 000 Syrians have lost their lives in a civil war that has rebel brigades opposing the armed forces of president Assad. The first victims are civilians, including many children.

This documentary follows the daily life of the Aleppo family including a young boy, his brothers and parents, living in a rebel quarter, who have decided to stay and fight against Bachar El-Assad's Army.

Have these 13 to 16 year-old boys lost their childhood forever? How do they adapt to a civil war? What values did they decide to defend staying in besieged Aleppo? And what will come next?

WALLS

HUMAN RIGHTS . LATIN AMERICA . UNITED STATES . EMIGRATION AND IMMIGRATION

It has been more than fifty years since the first stone of the Berlin Wall was laid in 1961, later to be torn down but today the world still seems inexorably crossed by walls, both visible and invisible. Walls that divide and exacerbate the differences, walls that feed ethnic and religious hatred, walls that raise barriers between races and skin colors; walls that create conflicts all over the world. But in this eternal, painful and hopeful story of dialogue and conflict, it is important to increase awareness that, perhaps, the walls within us are the most difficult to break down.

This documentary, shot mainly around the border between Nogales, Arizona, USA, and Nogales, Sonora, Mexico is the border that divides the U.S. from Mexico, the Paradise from the Hell.

THE LONGEST KISS

CONFLICTS AND RESOLUTIONS . AFRICA . RELIGION

The meeting of the Blue and White Nile in Sudan's capital, Khartoum, is referred to as "the longest kiss in history". As the Arab Spring was in full bloom, Sudan, straddling between the Middle East and Africa, was about to split in two.

The film follows six young Sudanese searching for a place to call "home" as their journeys take us up and down the Nile, between north and south Sudan, ahead of the south's secession. Facing conflicting identities, youth in north Sudan grapple with a stale dictatorship while others in south Sudan hope to start over—but at what costs? For the first time a film gives a voice to Sudanese youth from different origins, Muslims and Christians. It is an intimate portrait of a complex society that bears witness to its inevitable fragmentation.

AMERICAN GOLEM

SOCIAL ISSUES . COMMUNITIES . UNITED STATES

The global financial crisis is widely discussed in the cold office towers of corporate America, but its most hurtful impact is on the residential buildings that have been hit by a wave of foreclosures. Over 500 thousands Californians have lost their houses. In San Francisco alone more than 15,000 people are homeless and there's been a 60% increase of the requests for shelter, now counting at 12,000 per year.

This documentary tells the daily struggles of some exemplary individuals who have lost everything, yet manage to survive.

IMMIGRANT SON

EMIGRATION AND IMMIGRATION . COMMUNITIES . MULTICULTURALISM . UNITED STATES

“ One of the best films on immigration in years
J. Davies, Independent Film Quarterly

Something is pulling at John Mezzogiorno. Voices from the past are calling him back to tell their story, and in doing so to tell his own. Immigrant Son follows John's attempt as a fourth generation Italian American to make sense of his past, the travails of his ancestors who came to the New World, and ultimately America itself.

From a traffic jam on the Cross Bronx Expressway, to idyllic sloping hills and lush pastures of Central Italy, Immigrant Son takes us on a journey through time.
